

MEDIA ADVISORY For October 26, 2009 Event

Senate President Jeff Atwater to Host Reception in Honor of Florida Tax Credit Scholarships and the Program's Corporate Partners

WHAT:

Senate President Jeff Atwater will be hosting a reception to honor the unwavering support to Step Up For Students by corporations, like US Century Bank, who have made it possible to provide the Florida Tax Credit Scholarship to underprivileged students in Florida since 2002.

Atwater will be joined by more than 100 South Florida business leaders in toasting education here in Florida and discussing how corporations can be a part of the future landscape of education through programs such as Step Up For Students.

The corporate partners of Step Up For Students annually give more than 24,000 low-income children the gift of a quality education, with more than 8,000 students in South Florida benefitting from this unique program.

WHO:

Included among more than 100 business leaders will be the following dignitaries:

- Senate President Jeff Atwater
- Octavio Hernández, President & CEO of US Century Bank
- Armando Trabanco, senior vice president and regional manager of US Century Bank
- John F. Kirtley, Founder and Chairman of Step Up For Students
- Antonio Trigo, Step Up For Students Scholarship recipient
