

U.S. Century Bank Appoints Enrique Villaronga as EVP

U.S. Century Bank announces the expansion of the residential lending division and the addition of Enrique “Henry” Villaronga as Executive Vice President and Head of the Residential Lending Division.

U.S. Century’s full-service mortgage lending division looks to increase its residential lending throughout South Florida and further its commitment to helping customers finance their homes. The expanded product offerings include first time homebuyer programs, 30 and 15 year fixed mortgage programs, adjustable rate mortgages, home equity lines of credit, as well as home financing for foreign national programs.

“We clearly see the demand for residential lending in our market and have responded by adding residential mortgages to our growing product line; it’s all about meeting and exceeding our customer’s expectations.” said Luis de la Aguilera, President and CEO of U.S. Century. “Henry has solid management experience and possesses a depth of knowledge that will be vital as he leads the residential lending division. We look forward to this expansion and in helping customers navigate through one of their most important purchases—buying a home,” he continued.

With more than 35 years of banking experience, Villaronga will expand the bank’s focus on residential lending, as well as promote its competitive product offerings.

Previously he led successful residential lending teams at Ocean Bank and TotalBank for the past 16 years. He has a business administration degree from Miami Dade College.

“U.S. Century stands poised for acceleration and excellence. Henry and his team have both expertise and a proven track record, and we are confident the residential lending division will complement our other financial products and our approach of putting our customers at the center of every transaction,” stated Alex Acosta, Chairman of the Board.
